A detachment belonging to a Russian gun boat which was passing causually at the time seized four of them and took them to the Russian Legation. The Turkish authorities asked for their release, but the Russian Minister, M. Nelidoff, in reply stated that Turkish justice was a farce and he would not give them up.

It is believed that this event will create serious complications between the Russian and Turkish Governments.

SANTA FE.

The remarkable progress of Santa Fe, as illustrated by this season's crops, valued by the Governor at thirty five million dollars, and by the rapid strides of agriculture is a sufficiently cogent reason for our singling out this prosperous province for especial contemplation. It is by no means far-fetched to draw a connection between the progress of agriculture and the prosperity of a people. From the earliest records of humanity the abundance of grain and the welfare of man have always gone hand in hand, and it is even maintained by the ingenuity of some writers that the plentiful and periodical supply of food, by lessening the cares and diminishing public anxiety among the Egyptians, is accountable for the great progress in the study of astronomy and the perfection of geometry on the banks of the Nile. The subject, however, is too deep for our superficial pen, and we are, besides, rather puzzled by the ignorance of the Santa Fecinos in astronomic questions. In their short and simple annals we find no record of scientific discoveries, and we are inclined to think that their united efforts have been more successful in the advancement of agriculture and farming than in those abstruse studies in which the Cordobese have so much distinguished themselves. The Santa Fecinos, from the standpoint of material progress, are second to none in the Argentine Republic. They have now seven million acres under cultivation against nine hundred thousand in the year 1884, when gold was at par; and the beauty of these figures consists in their soundness. Look at them from a gold or a paper point of view, they are the same and bespeak a progress which the violent fluctuations in the value of our currency have so far failed to visibly affect. In their rapid progress the Santa Fecinos have even outstripped B. Ayres, for we note the local Government has incurred a deficit in the budget of three million dollars. No doubt, the principle that great virtues and vices thrive together is as true in Santa Fe as it is here.

There must be some secret surely in the marvellous advance of Santa Fe, and the existence of such a secret, whatever it may be, is all the more forcibly felt if we cast a glance at the other provinces. Look at Entre Rios. The Mesopotamia of the Plate is advancing it is true, but the Entre Rianos, like the Charruas who overswept the fertile province, are still in that peculiar stage which, for want of a better term, we may call the poetry of politics. They have little regard for their own lives and they think nothing of being mowed down to uphold the pretensions of the first political aspirant to command. In this respect the Entre Rianos are very French and, although they may not be able to pronounce the phrase correctly, they, nevertheless, appear to be desirous of impressing on their countrymen in the other provinces that to fall in a political cause—"c'est le sort le plus beau, le plus digne d'envie." A more general admixture of foreign blood and the infusion of common sense, which experience in time will effect, will unquestionably deal a death-blow to this poetry of politics and thus enable the Entre-Rianos to attach more importance and devote more time to the cultivation of the soil. The state of affairs in Entre-Rios is abnormal, for an exaggerated patriotism and bellicose propensities thrive on the barrenness of the mountain but never amid the teeming fertility of the plain. The Mendocinos, San Juaninos, the "valientes Puntanos" and inhabitants generally of the mountainous Cuyo provinces are subject to so much political excitement that the slowness of their progress cannot astonish us. The Cordobeses have an Observatory, and while studying the beauties of the firmament and dreaming like Psammeticus, of gigantic canals, allow precious time to slip away. Hatters state that the structure of the Cordobese skull has singularly changed within the last few years. This is an alarming fact which possibly may find an explanation in the extraordinary development of certain bumps through an excessive study of abstruse questions. The Riojanos and Porteños are alike good-natured people who, by dint of serious economy, will retrieve their fallen fortunes. The Correntinos are in a process of metamorphosis, and the young generation under the guidance of the energetic rector of the National College are trying their hand at cricket and foot-ball, which is always a good sign. But the Santa Fecino, we mean the settler, the inhabitant, stands alone. His genius finds no channel in the poetry of politics, nor in the study of astronomy. Neither is it forced into the rugged paths of unavoidable economy. His energy is unaltered. It continues to stamp itself on the fruits of his labor, and survives the causes which are beginning to enforce energy in other provinces. And yet, this pleasing prosperity of Santa Fe, which sheds an encouraging ray in the obscurity we have been steeped in by the crisis, is not of long date. No province affords a more painful record of vicissitudes than Santa Fe. The first settlers, not forty years ago, attracted by the fertility of the soil, perhaps even by the pious ring of the provincial name, saw their fields destroyed by repeated plagues of locusts and often their cattle carried off by the audacious Indian. Santa Fe then was so poor that even the sympathies of a tyrant were moved and Rosas used to grant a few thousand dollars to defray the cost of a meagre administration. The spade of Dante's countrymen has opened a grave in which we may cast the recollections of those hard times and the misgivings which the uncertainty of things awakened. Italian frugality, Italian labor, Italian perseverance, Italian immigration in a word, has lifted the province from the depths of misfortune to the heights of a marvellous prosperity, under the influence of which every settler has undergone the pleasing evolution of developing from a humble tenant into the more important proportions of a landlord. Every man in Santa Fe is his own landlord as well as his own tenant, a sociological phenomenon we recommend to the study and consideration of people in Europe.

A NEW INDUSTRY.

One of the most interesting features in the Rural Exhibition now open at Palermo, and perhaps one of the most important as regards the welfare of this Republic, signalising as it does the birth of an important new industry, is to be found by thoughtful men in the stall of the Rio Negro Salt Company. Here, in an unpretending but exhaustive manner, are displayed the products of those vast salinas or salt lakes which lie some few miles north of the town of Patagones, and which this company has recently commenced to work. There are large blocks composed of big crystals taken in the rough from the salines; barrels of natural brine, compressed cakes for cattle; coarse salt for hides and meat curing; ground salt for kitchen use; and refined salt, dazzling as snow and in every way equal to the English bottled salt, for use at the domestic table: in short, salt in every form that can be desired either for practical wants or the dainty demands of luxury. Pamphlets are distributed by courteous attendants containing analyses of eminent scientists which demonstrate the excellence and purity of its quality, and its adaptability for all known purposes, backed up by testimonials of well-known men who speak from their own experience of the good results obtained by them from its employment in their several establishments: whilst in the neighbouring stall of Messrs. Morgan a display of preserved viands, in the preparation of which this salt was exclusively used, convey an irrefragable proof of the truth of these statements to both eye and palate. As regards quantity, we were informed in an interesting conversation with a genial and affable member of the company that it was absolutely unlimited—that a calculation had been made that in a given year it would be possible to take from these lakes, occupying an extension of about nine square leagues, upwards of two millions of tons, and that in the ensuing season an equal quantity of salt would be found, owing to the fact that every winter the lakes become filled with a brine of a density of from 25° to 32°, which in due time becomes a solid cake of salt.

In view of these immense capabilities it seems opportune to glance at the state of commerce in this article in other parts of the world, and to note briefly the volume and value of our own and our neighbours' consumption.

About two years since the United States, recognizing the importance of this trade, commenced a serious competition against the English product, which up to that date had supplied a very large portion of domestic and foreign demands. For this purpose there was formed that characteristic American institution—at once powerful for evil or good—a ring or trust. To counteract this, it was deemed advisable in England to meet the enemy with his own weapon, and accordingly the North American Salt Company found itself opposed by the Salt Union of Great Britain in either country all smaller businesses were swamped or swallowed by these gigantic schemes, on behalf of which it was urged that though they might appear inimical to public good they were really beneficent in their operations, that wasteful competition between individual manufacturers was avoided, that the consolidation of capital and plant economised cost of production, and that a stable average price to consumers was thus established lower than possible under other conditions. In the States, owing to a conjunction of adverse causes, the North American Salt Company remains yet in embryo. The Salt Union of Great Britain has been in active existence for 18 months, and it is interesting to observe how far its programme has been fulfilled. In the year 1888, the syndicate being in operation during the latter half of the year only, the export of salt from Great Britain amounted to 898,671 tons. In 1889, when it was complete master of the situation, the exports fell to 666,796 tons, a decrease of 231,875 tons, or 26 per cent. The value in 1888 was £485,915 and in 1889 £538,564, an increase of 12 per cent. On the basis of the average of 1888 the exports in 1889 would have been valued at £360,000, they are actually returned at £538,654, the increase being over 49 per cent.

In the home consumption, chemical manufacturers, who are by far the largest consumers, have fared very little better. As their contracts expired, they were unable to renew them under from forty to fifty per cent advance and were compelled to enter into agreements for five years with the Salt Union. The result of this has been that the chemical export trade, valued at £2,000,000 yearly, has fallen off considerably, and many branches of that industry, hitherto monopolised by English makers for no other reason than because they enjoyed a cheap and plentiful supply of salt, are passing into the hands of other countries. Why, with the immense quantities of salt that this country possesses, should not a successful effort be made to obtain some part of this very important trade?

Again, not only have these vast natural resources been allowed to remain dormant, but year by year immense quantities are imported, and have to be paid for on a gold basis. Thus, in the past season, some sixty thousand tons have arrived from Cadiz, the value of which cannot fall much short of £240,000, or say nearly a million and a quarter of gold dollars: and table salt alone from England has reached the astounding quantity of fifteen hundred tons of the value of £12,000, not to say anything of the coarser qualities. In short, it may be asserted, taking round numbers, that over two million gold dollars are annually expended in imported salt.

The consumption by adjacent countries is second only to our own. Uruguay requires each year some fourteen thousand tons, Paraguay five thousand, and the southern provinces of Brazil twenty thousand; and as saladero and other meat preserving establishments swell in size and number, so will the demand for salt. It is evident then, that there is a great future before the salt industry of this country, and that within a measurable time another phase will have to be recorded in the annals of the trade, the Argentine Republic having become one of the most extensive exporters, instead of, as at present, an importer. Perhaps the day is not very distant when by purveying salt to the millions of India, Argentine salt may be turned into English gold. A few undertakings, simple and solid as salt, would benefit the national credit vastly more than a whole pharmacopoeia of elaborate political and financial nostrums.

MR. GOSCHEN'S BUDGET.

London, April 19th.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer produced his budget on Thursday night, and it is impossible to pronounce anything but the most favourable judgment upon it. It is true that there is a surplus of three millions sterling, which would argue unskilfulness on the part of the Minister of Finance, whose duty (as Adam Smith says) is to collect just as much taxes, and not a shilling more, as will suffice to meet public expenditure. Mr Goschen, however, shews that the surplus is through no error of calculation on his side, but arises mainly from an increase in the consumption of liquor, especially rum and whisky. In effect the consumption of rum rose 12 per cent and other kinds of alcohol 6 per cent, a proof that the reaction which the Salvation Army was supposed to have caused has come to an end, and is succeeded by an aggravated abuse of alcohol.

You will not be surprised to hear that this fearful increase of alcohol has been attended by a decline in tea, coffee and cocoa. The consumption of tea has fallen off by 9 million lbs., that of coffee and cocoa by two million lbs. In order to remedy so lamentable a state of things, Mr Goschen very properly proposes to reduce the duty on tea by 33 per cent, say twopence per lb. and to add 5 per cent, or 6 pence a gallon, to that on spirits. I am sorry to see that the Daily News ridicules the proposal to reduce the tea duty, and says that "nobody cares two pence about it." There is no tax which presses so heavily on the working-classes as that on tea and coffee. Every working man's family consumes a pound of tea weekly; the duty therefore has been equal to a tax of 26 shillings a year, a very large item in a poor man's expenditure. By reducing it one-third Mr. Goschen practically gives every working-man a Christmas gift of 9 shillings. Moreover this reduction of tea-duty is an effort to arrest the demon of intemperance. At the risk of egotism I venture to remind your readers that in some of my books I have urged the expediency of abolishing the duty on tea and coffee in the U. Kingdom as the only efficient mode of checking the increase of alcohol. The addition of 5 per cent to the duty on spirits is likewise most commendable, and I hope to see this duty raised 5 per cent every year until that on tea and coffee is abolished. Drink is the curse of these 3 kingdoms, and no effort should be spared to redeem the people from so terrible and degrading a slavery.

It is proverbially impossible to please everybody, and the Opposition papers complain that although Mr. Goschen has a surplus of £3,200,000 he has not seen fit to take a penny off the Income-tax. Had he done so, it would have absorbed no less than £2,200,000, and done no benefit to the working-classes, who are exempt from this tax. But it is much better to do as Mr. Goschen has done.

On or before the 31st ult. the Government called in all gold coins of dates previous to 1837: the estimates of the number of such coins in circulation and the actual number sent in to the Bank of England for exchange up to April 2nd were as follows:—

	Estimated number.	Actually sent in.
Sovereigns...	4,295,560	2,071,000
Half-sovergs.	314,000	210,000

Mr. Goschen observed that it was expected that all the half-sovereigns would be sent in, but only 2,170,000 of the sovereigns, as light coin, and that the loss to the Treasury would be £50,000. The actual loss is found to be only £44,000, averaging 6 pence each on half-sovereigns and less than 5 pence on sovereigns. Against this loss the Treasury had a net profit of £600,000 last year in issue of silver money, the price of silver having been much less than the value it is made to represent as shillings and half-crowns.

The Times lays much stress on the fact that Mr. Goschen has reduced the National Debt by 23 millions during the three years that he has been in office, including eight millions last year. It adds that the Government has been so fortunate in its finances as to be assured of its lease of power till 1892, in spite of the oft repeated rumors of a coming dissolution.

By way of postscript I may add that the Irish Land Bill comes on for second reading next Thursday, 24th inst., on which occasion Mr. Parnell will move that it be read that day six months, the usual formula for rejecting a bill. Nevertheless, Mr. T. D. Sullivan, editor of the Nation, and some other Irish members proclaim their intention to support Mr. Balfour's Bill, because, as the Earl of Erne declared recently at an Orange meeting at Enniskillen, it is in reality "a bill to facilitate the expulsion of the British garrison, the landlords, from Ireland." The Bill is known to be drawn by Mr. Goschen, and is only for convenience called Mr. Balfour's.

LONDON LETTER.

THE MESS IN AFRICA.

(From our own Correspondent.)

April 15

Parliament is open and the Law Courts are open, but Lord Salisbury is still at San Carlo and Sir James Hannen is at Cannes, so that business has not really commenced. It is not quite the same in the Stock Exchange, where this afternoon they appear to be in full work and in good spirits. Yesterday, when we received the news of the resignation of the Argentine ministry and of the premium on gold having gone up to 207, River Plate people in the city were certainly a little alarmed. Even those who are always inclined to take an optimistic view of Argentine affairs confessed they were a little afraid. The Railway men in particular drew long faces. They do not quite see how they are to keep on raising the tariffs in proportion to the fall in value of the paper currency. However, to-day there is a better feeling in response to a fall in the gold premium in Buenos Ayres and on account of the general opinion that the resignation of the ministers "en bloc" means a protest against something or somebody, and that it will perhaps clear the air and lead to a higher morality or at least a greater punctiliousness in the administration of affairs. And so, Cedulas J went up.

Mr. H. M. Stanley who, after the German Emperor, is decidedly the greatest swell in Europe, has arrived as far as Cannes where he was met by Sir Francis de Winton and other members of the Emin Relief Committee. Mr. Stanley had also a chat with the Prince of Wales, and were Lord Salisbury an ordinary mortal he might even be received into his and give the marquis a bit of his mind, just slick. But Lord Salisbury is chafing under the treatment he received from the hall-porter of the Casino in San Carlo. This functionary, accustomed to the real marquises and genuine prime ministers of the continent, would not believe that the plain fat, gent in tweeds was the great Lord Salisbury and flatly refused to admit him. The British Consul was summoned and also the director of the Casino, and they managed to pass the Marquis in, but his dignity was hurt and he refused to enter the Salon. Stanley has evidently a lot to tell him, as you will know by the important report of an interview I sent by last mail. We have a Times interview with Stanley published to-day, but it is nothing to the Herald's, and Mr. Stanley knowing the impression the Herald's report caused in Europe, is perhaps a little cautious. There is a dead set made against him by both the German and French press and their African informers. Stanley is expected to make more disclosures, and by the Pacific steamer I may be able to tell you more about East African affairs. The air at this moment is full of lies and recriminations. The partisans of Emin accuse Stanley and also the Relief Committee of mercenary intentions and assert that Mr. Stanley when at Wadelai made offers to Emin of a governorship with £20,000 per annum in the British Service in the Congo. It is also averred that Sir William McKinnon, Sir Francis de Winton and other English gentlemen supposed to be interested in the rescue of Emin Pasha were really only interested in getting hold of the ivory he had, collected. The Relief Committee on its part accuses the German Officials on the Coast of intercepting the letters they sent to Mr. Stanley. Herr Reichard in Berlin has published the contents of letters from M. St. Paul Illaire who reports the conversation he had with Emin, who exposed the conduct and intentions of Stanley. It is even said that these letters were shown to the Emperor and that he in consequence immediately came to terms with Emin and sent him on his expedition to Wadelai. To day we hear that other Caravans are to follow, armed and disciplined by German officers. Meanwhile, it is supposed that the British East African Association is not idle and may have people already on the shores of the Great African Lakes ready to welcome and embrace their German rivals. We are also told that the King of the Belgians, who was in London a few days ago—for his health—wants to sell his share in the Congo business to the German Emperor for five millions sterling. There are difficulties in regard to France in this matter, as she has a right of pre-emption, although for considerations in Alsace she might waive her rights on the Congo. Again it is hinted that upon reading Stanley's mouth-watering accounts of the india-rubber trees waiting to be tapped in "Darkest Africa," the Belgian monarch was inclined to stick to his old bargain. The "rapprochement" between Germany and France, which I mentioned some days ago, is again talked of. It is all interesting, very. But the subject can be safely left, and for two reasons: Firstly, we know nothing authentic in regard to the Emin-Stanley squabble; and, secondly, the Anglo-Franco Germanico-Lusitanian business in Africa will keep longer than any newspaper correspondent or reader now living.

There is a sensational story current in Paris about General Boulanger when Minister of War. At the time when, owing to frontier disputes, war was anticipated with Germany, President Grevy asked Boulanger for a documentary sketch of the means of army mobilisation and frontier defences. The document, it appears, was stolen from General Boulanger's lodgings in the Louvre by one of his friends, Madame K——r, a German spy, and all the French military scheme of defence had to be reformed.

Mr. Parnell has given notice that next Monday, when the second reading of Mr. Balfour's Land Purchase Bill comes on, he will move its rejection. He is understood to be supported by the Gladstonian party.

Railway Items.

Telegrams received yesterday from Santiago state that the rails of the Sunchales Line now reach Zumaran Colony, and the whistle of the first locomotive will be heard to-day or to-morrow for the first time in Santiago. The joy of the inhabitants knows no bounds, and tremendous preparations have been made to worthily celebrate the arrival of the engine of progress. As the auspicious event occurs in the midst of the May fetes, we trust the Santiagueños will economise in their preparations.

Owing to some miscalculations in the estimates, Messrs. Lucas Gonzalez and Co. have applied to the Board of Public Works for $88,872.60 gold to build the Mojotoro tunnel. This added to the original estimate makes a total cost of $242,422.60 gold. The calculation is made out by the applicants as follows:—

304 metres excavation.....	218,697.60
100 metres of wall.....	23,725.
gold	$242,422.60

The Santa Fe and Cordoba Great Southern, not having carriages at present, have applied to the Home Minister for authority to carry passengers in their goods trains running between Villa Constitucion and Melincué.

The Chicago Railway Age says that "the interchange of traffic between the railways of Canada and the United States is growing so rapidly that increased facilities are constantly in demand for crossing the great natural barrier—the St. Lawrence river—which separates the two countries, along a great part of their frontier. It is true that proposals have been made to bridge at some point between Kingston and Brockville, and the numerous islands seem to offer facilities for doing so, but the river is so wide that though the individual spans would be short the total length would be great. At Brockville the river narrows to a width of less than a mile at the point where it is proposed to build the bridge. In 1886 an Act was passed by the Parliament of Canada incorporating a company to build a bridge at any suitable point at or near Brockville, and a preliminary survey has demonstrated that the site last mentioned is eminently favourable. The late Samuel Keefer, C.E., made a sketch plan from which more detailed drawings have been elaborated by Mr. McLean, of the Brockville, Westport and Sault Ste. Marie Railway engineering staff. The total length of the bridge, according to this plan, would be 4,587 ft., divided into nineteen spans ranging from 166 ft. to 525ft., measured from centre to centre of the piers, which are 10ft. across for the fixed spans and 20 ft. for the swings. The 525ft. span is across the main steamboat channel, near the Canadian side. The estimated cost is $1,250,000. The average number of cars now ferried at Brockville is about 16,000 a year, which, at a toll of $4 a car, yields a revenue of $64,000, or over 5 per cent. of the cost of the bridge.

EDITOR'S TABLE.

We cordially salute our adopted country on this glorious anniversary, wishing it a speedy delivery from its present unmerited woes. The clouds are black at present; but are as certain to pass away as that the beautiful white and blue flag waves over one of the fairest countries on the face of the earth.

Consul Bridgett had a crowd of visitors yesterday in spite of the extra demands of Saturday on the time of business men. Her Majesty's health was loyally toasted, and the popular Consul's also.

Everybody who owns a flag is expected by the Gymnastic Club to do his duty to-day and throw it to the breeze in honour of this great anniversary. The Te Deum in the Cathedral begins at 1 p.m., after which lunch at the Government House, and then the review at Palermo. Music all day and fireworks at the Corrales, Constitucion and Once at night. We sketched the full programme yesterday.

The fire in Calle Cochabamba in the small hours yesterday morning was a rouser. It started in a carpenter's shop and furniture store, and soon seized on a lot of those wretched wooden rooms that are such a disgraces and danger to the city. One family living in a wooden 'altos' saved themselves by crossing a plank to a neighbouring roof. The police and Bomberos worked well, but it took them two hours to subdue the flames. There was great alarm in the neighbourhood, and the women in all the houses, even half a square away, did a lot of screaming. There was no loss of life, or even injury, but some 200 people lost all their belongings.

Argentine salt will yet play a big part in the world. We deal with the subject in our leading columns. Meanwhile, it is encouraging to find that the Rio Negro Salt Company has won a first prize in the Palermo Exhibition.

"Oh! let me forget", sent to us yesterday, is beautiful poetry, but we never publish verse in the winter months, and as seldom as possible in any of the others.

We very seldom agree with the Industrial Union, but the circular it sent round yesterday, binding itself to relentlessly hunt down fraud, false labels, adulteration etc., which enter so largely into "las industrias nacionales," merits the strongest approval. The Union also binds itself only to consume Argentine-made articles, "in good condition." If it carry out this patriotic proposal, it will indubitably starve.

We are requested to advise the active members of the "Choral Union" that the rehearsal takes place to-morrow evening at 8.15 p.m. Punctual attendance is requested, as the Society is preparing for a concert to be given shortly. The rehearsals are at the La France hall, Calle Lavalle.

A few days ago, when homeward bound, we were brought to a standstill by a large crowd admiring the tastefully-dressed shop-windows of Mr. Felix Potin's almacen in Calle Florida No. 385 (between Cuyo and Corrientes). We, as in duty bound, from an editorial point of view, walked into this palatial shop, where cleanliness, luxurious fittings, clever arrangement of the goods and unrivalled civility vie with each other to tempt the thirsty public. We were tempted and chose a case of assorted "liqueurs" which on closer inspection turned out "non plus ultra." Really our fair readers in particular and the public in general should pay this magnificent establishment a visit and judge for themselves.

We find the following in Modern Society:—"The fine house occupied by the Duke of Leinster's grandfather and father in Carlton House-terrace was sold last year by the present Duke, and bought by a gentleman named Sanford, who is reported to have made a vast fortune in Buenos Ayres. He is personally superintending the rehabilitation of the mansion, which will be on a scale of expense that will render it magnificent. The walls of the hall are to be of the finest coloured marble, and the staircase of the same material and of the purest white. The houses on Carlton House-terrace are in some respects by far the finest in London. The objection to them is the very long flight of stairs to reach the bed-chambers. The finest of the lot is that occupied by Mr. Alfred Morrison, son of the whilom millionaire."

The crisis, instead of depressing, seems to have put a fresh spring in the heel of all caterers for public amusements. Seldom before have we had such a surfeit of concerts, operas, comedies, zarzuelas etc. to announce every day. Yesterday M. Thibaud favored us with a very nicely got up program for his concerts on Wednesday next and June 9th, assisted by Messrs Rosa, Marenco, Galvani, and Bonfiglioli. Tickets can be purchased at Hardoy's, Drangosch and Boine's and Hartmann's. The program of the first concert consists of a quatuor by Beethoven, a sonata by Raff and trio by Rubinstein (first time in this country.)

The ladies of the Coquelin company are all so handsome that even the thieves of the city are in love with them. Their portraits, hung up in the vestibule of the Politeama, were all stolen on Friday night. M. de Glaser has set the police at work but we really must intercede for the offenders. The temptation was irresistible, and without wishing to make such an odious comparison as that of ladies and umbrellas, we think that a man who steals the portrait of a pretty woman is no more guilty of theft than he who seizes the first "paraplnie" he can find on a wet day.

A Confirmation Service will be held by the Lord Bishop of the Falkland Islands at Trinity Church Lomas de Zamora to-day May 25 at 10.30 a.m. We understand that about 20 candidates will be presented on this occasion.

President Herrera dropped in to the Montevidean Politeama the other night, and was immediately made the medium of a "reclame." Scarcely had he entered his box, when he was approached by one of the messengers of the "Encomiendas Urgentes," wearing the now familiar red cap, who delivered to him an elegantly wrapped parcel, bearing the 4 cent. stamp of the company. This was found to contain a box of Havannah cigars, forwarded by some admirer who took this opportunity of demonstrating at once his esteem for the Chief Magistrate and the utility and convenience of the "Encomiendas" Company.

The oldy story. The Health Board wants to push on the proposal to fling more millions away on a Lazaretto on Martin Garcia. A nice time, truly, to think of such a thing. Why was it not built when times were good? What a beautiful shanty the present so-called Lazaretto is, although 750,000 dols. were squandered on it. The present is no time for such costly projects, and this one must per force be pitched into the w.p.b.

We welcome Mr. G. P. Weight, C.E., of Cordoba, and feel much pleasure in congratulating him on his marriage, wishing him and his fair bride a long and happy life.

The numerous strikes at home give rise sometimes to funny scenes. The Times thus describes one of them:—"On the arrival of the mail train from Dublin to-day with the American mail, consisting of 395 sacks, the quay porters, out of sympathy with the railway porters on strike, refused to work, the consequence being that there was no one to transfer the sacks from the mail carriages to the tender of the Britannic, which was en route to New York. The situation looked serious, but the lady passengers saved it by calling on the gentlemen to become mail porters, and several of them, two Press correspondents, two mercantile clerks, an hotel keeper, a detective, the master of the railway station and his two booking clerks divested themselves of their coats, and with a number of mail sorters, procured trucks and assisted to transfer the mail bags to the Britannic. Shortly afterwards Messrs. Scott and Co. engaged the services of several of their watermen, who, with certain others, worked so effectively that the mail was safely embarked on board the New York bound liner, which sailed only ten minutes late."

Whoever wants an evening of thorough enjoyment should go to the Politeama to-night to hear "L'Ami Fritz," Erckmain and Chatrain's famous comedy, played here for the first time. It has been on the stage for 20 years, and is a piece which ladies can witness, as there is not a doubtful line in it.

Our Uruguayan neighbours are economising as well as ourselves. With this view two vessels of B. O's formidable navy are to be suppressed. The world will breathe more freely now.

The ingenuous capitalists who took up the San Juan Free Bank loan in 1888 seem to be nervous about their interest and amortization, as they have sent an agent up there to "formalizar las garantias," whatever this neat expression means. As when making hare soup—first catch your 'garantias.'

The "meum and tuum" case in the Hypothecary Bank at La Plata turns out, after all the fuss, to be a small potatoes affair, only a few thousand dollars. The thieves were old employes of the bank, and one of them resigned eighteen months ago. The Diario insists that the steal is a big one.

The distribution of prizes takes place to-day at the Exhibition. This day week will be the closing day.

The following is the latest Football intelligence from across the water, about a practice match played at the Mount the other day:—"After a little of the usual dropping and punting sides were picked and the play was very fast, considering the want of form and practice; and if the players only train a little longer, a good match will be sure to result between the Cricket Club and the Rowing Club, and from this match a team will be elected to play against Buenos Aires before long."

The long and spicy debate in Congress on Friday on the nationality of one of the new Deputies is in depressing contrast with the brevity with which the Gold Duties Bill was voted. It was said yesterday that a duel will be the consequence of some of the spice thrown into the discussion.

The Argentina is not so near starting on her cruise as we thought. She has first to go to Montevideo and enter a dock to have her hull examined, and if it is all right she will come back here for provisions.

The assisted immigration business is giving the same result in Chile as here, most of the new arrivals being "decrepit men, sick women and squalid children." The worst of it is that a great many of these objectionable folk have made their way across the Andes to this country, to swell the rabble of beggars, beggars and Bohemians Argentina has so recklessly imported on her own account.

They say in Montevideo that the eternal port question there is about to end in the acceptance of the Huergo scheme. We believe some thirty different plans have been presented from time to time.

The crisis has not affected the matrimonial market yet, and we hope it will be kind enough to keep its hands off that interesting and indispensable institution for an indefinite period. We hear of seven high life marriages to come off in this city, and three in Montevideo. Amongst the former is that of our young friend Mr. Emilio Nocetti and Miss Seeber, daughter of the Lord Mayor, and we sincerely wish the young couple a life-long honeymoon.

We beg to thank Messrs Bagley and Company for their 25th of May present, consisting of the famous Hesperidina and a box of biscuits. Their card accompanying same is a work of art and looked as bright as the lights in Plaza Victoria. Their taste like Hesperidina is second to none.

The next generation of humanity will certainly be able to travel in the air. M. Boisset has just delivered in Paris an interesting lecture on a new system of aerial navigation invented by himself. He does not seem to have made a balloon, but he has, by calculations and the adoption of new appliances, convinced himself he can make an aerial ship, which he would be able to steer as he might feel inclined, or to remain stationary at any altitude, and descend at any spot.

We wish to correct an error that crept into our Church Notices yesterday. The time of evening service in the Anglican Church, Belgrano, to-day is 8, not 5 o'clock.

The latest Terpsychorean novelty comes from the land on whose Exhibition in 1893 we have staked a wide-awake hat. A London contemporary refers to this wonderful new dance as follows:—"It was more in sorrow than in anger that the dancing-man read in his St. James's Gazette yesterday the details of a new American dance. "The Buzzard Lope" is its sweet name. It was invented in collaboration with a buzzard, very much alive, a mule (dead), and a darkey. The darkey went to bury his mule, but found that the buzzards had nearly finished interring him, in the same fashion that a cannibal chief inters his mother-in-law. One buzzard, drunk with his feast, refused to go away, and proceeded to instruct the negro in the latest dance. He tucked in his tail and drew in his beak and waltzed round and round that half-picked mule until Sambo, unable to resist the contagion, followed his example. These ecstasies were too fierce to last for ever, and after three hours' delicious entertainment the buzzard retired to roost, and Sambo went home to show the new step to his friends. From Georgia it spread all over the Union; and now we are to have it in England. The new waltz is described as deliciously intoxicating. It certainly seems to have had that effect upon the man who invented it."

ment until full inquiry has raked up and exposed all the disagreeable details. Moralizing the administration is certainly bringing unpalatable facts to the front.

Montevidean advices announce that the Oriental Government is busy preparing a large increase of economy in the expenditure, to balance the budget; the two gunboats will be laid up, and the army reduced and the extraordinary items in the Ministerial budgets suppressed. With regard to the loan nothing new has come to light, and there seems no doubt that it will be effected on Baring's terms. Dillon's port scheme has been rejected and engineer Huergo's project taken up for study. The rise of Amortizable in London has enabled a well-know French capitalist to unload £90,000 worth of the stock in that market at 77 per cent, which he in great part replaced yesterday at a lower rate. The Italian steam ship agencies have put up their third-clase passage 30 per cent, due to the great number of Italians leaving the Plate.

Business at the second hour was a veritable bagatelle, comprising a handful of gold and a few lots of stocks. As there was nothing doing the state of the market cannot be well gauged, but brokers reported an easier tendency, there being gold over on offer at the closing rate. As for stocks, they are paralysed and threaten to remain so, owing to the scarcity of buyers. Gold opened at 241, weakened off to 239 and closed sellers at 240. Nothing was done in National Bank shares, Catalinas were firmer at 40, but Constructors left off weak at 38.50. In Cedulas, little or nothing was done.

The following is a summary of operations effected this evening at the second ring:—

"A report of gold withdrawals for Buenos Ayres, which turned out to be true, helped the discount rate this morning, which became 1½ per cent., firm, for three months' Bank bills. In the afternoon brokers were disposed to quote 1¼ per cent. Call loans were dearer because of the demand for them, caused by payments in full on the Victorian Loan. An instalment of a comparatively insignificant amount was due on it, but a large portion was paid up in full under 3 per cent. discount. The money will be immediately in the market again; but its absorption for the day made the call rate ¾ to 1 per cent., and the rate for seven day loans 1¾ to 1¾ per cent. As for the parcel of sovereigns taken out for Buenos Ayres, the market need not frighten itself about this "drain" yet. How any gold can go there just now is a puzzle, but there does not seem to be any Government manipulation in to-day's shipment. The Credit Lyonnais took the coin at the issuance, it is said, of the financial group which is building the Argentine North-Western Railway. A call of £600,000 has just been made on the Bonds of this Railway, and a third of the sum has been taken in gold. But the necessity is much greater and more constant that the Argentines should remit to us than that we should send gold to them—so long, that is, as they do not raise another large loan in Europe.

The Bank Return published this afternoon had no importance as an indicator of the course of money. A decrease of £478,000 was shewn in the total reserve, which is still £15,165,000. 'Other' deposits had fallen off £801,000, and 'Public' deposits were £336,000 larger. The total stock of coin and bullion is still £23,145,000. Twelve months ago it was nearly £1,000,000 less, and the reserve was proportionately smaller. But discount and loans were cheaper then than now."

Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machine Company, limited.

This company is prepared to supply the Wolseley Sheep Shearing Machines, with their accessories, in any quantities. They are now coming into general use in Australia, where, during the past season upwards of 7,000,000 of sheep have been shorn by them; and it is confidently expected that over 20,000,000 will be shorn by them in that country this year. The following are some of their proved advantages over the ordinary shears:—

Estimated at per sheep per clip,

(1) Increase in quantity and value of wool (See testimonials)	11d.
(2) Increased value of pelts owing to total absence of cuts	1
(3) Saving of 1 per cent, usual allowance for deaths resulting from cuts and stabs	2½
(4) Saving of labor and time, as the work can be performed in half the time usually occupied with the old style of shearing	1½
Total per clip per sheep	16d.

(5) Total absence of suffering to the sheep.

These economies add enormously to the income of the Australian wool-growers, and are applicable relatively to sheep-farmers everywhere.

The Wolseley machines may be seen in actual work at the Agricultural Rural Exhibition at Palermo.

For further particulars apply to the agents, Messrs. Agar, Cross & Co., Calle Defensa 124 á 136, Buenos Ayres, where certificates and testimonials can be seen.
